6. [redacted] German families had to vacate town-owned apartments in the Zwaetzen-Loebstedt area for Soviet families who were expected to arrive there. It was rumored that a total of 400 apartments had to be vacated. The 60 to 80 apartments in the SA settlement, also referred to as Fliegersiedlung, had already been vacated.

7. On 3 December, the barracks installation in Loebstedt was occupied by about 1,200 to 1,500 troops, including about 70 percent wearing red-bordered black epaulets with tank and artillery insignia, 25 percent wearing black-bordered crimson epaulets, and the others wearing black-bordered black and blue-bordered black epaulets with signal and engineer insignia. On 26 November, about 500 troops had fallen in for a roll call and about 50 troops were seen drilling. On 3 December, about 180 troops wearing red-bordered black and black-bordered crimson epaulets and equipped with 18 x 82-mm mortars left the installation toward Jena-Roedigen. A short time later, they were followed by about 240 troops with carbines and practice targets. At about 7 p.m., about 150 troops carrying field telephones and cable reels left the installation.

Comment. [redacted] the barracks installations are occupied as previously by units of the 40th Gds Mecz Div. Heavy weapons observed vaguely indicate the 65th Tank Ing Bn (US) in the Forst Kaserne and the 66th Gds Mecz Regt in the barracks installation in Loebstedt. The 88th Gds Engr Bn is carried in the Forst Kaserne and the unidentified signal battalion in the Polizei Kaserne.
